

We want your skill, energy, creativity and passion!

NCA is looking for people to join our marketing team. Help us to create and share content to spread the word about the great work we do to help women and children in Singapore.

We are an international team of diverse skills and experience, and we are keen to find some like-minded, talented and energetic folk to join us. The marketing team meets monthly to share ideas and progress on our various projects. We are looking for:

1) Social media manager

As we expand our social media platforms we are searching for a social media manager to create buzz and attention on Facebook and Instagram highlighting our activities and good causes, and driving traffic to our website.

- posting on Facebook ideally c. 2x week, 1x daily on Instagram
- monitoring relevant online media and responding for NCA
- experience with social media required, ideally in the not-for-profit sector

2) Photographer

We're looking for a photographer to join our team to document NCA events, interviews and create content for us, working with the rest of the Marketing team.

3) Content writer

We're looking for a content writer to conduct interviews, create social media posts and generate new web content in line with our revised focus on women's and children's issues.

4) Graphic designer

We're looking for a graphic designer to take over from our existing designer creating beautiful logos and marketing material to catch the eye and communicate our brand.
